Accessing the Network Drives on MacOS

Follow the instructions below to access the CEC network drives.
When you are off campus, please be sure to connect to FIU's VPN first.
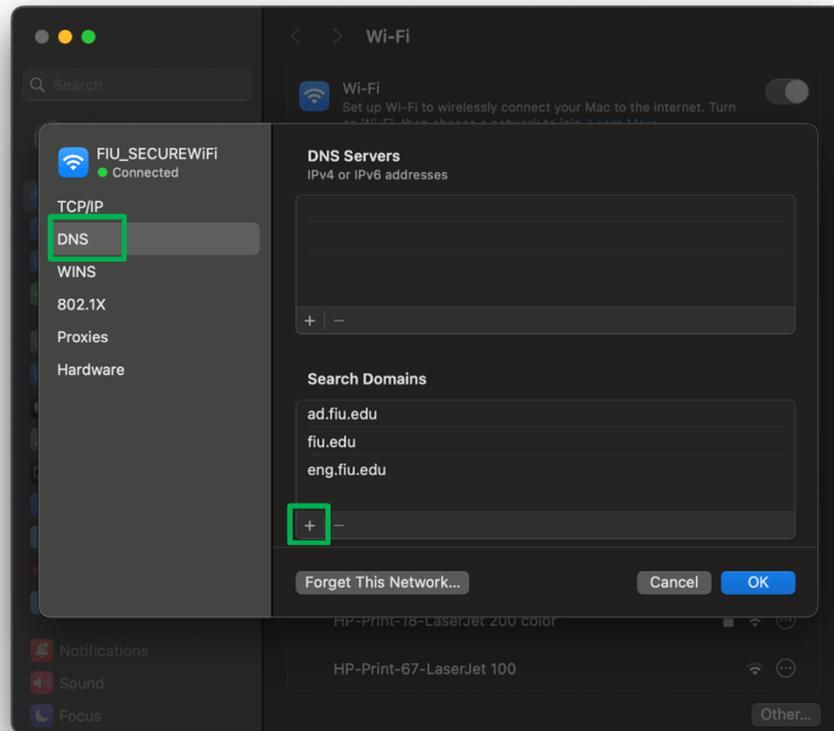

Adding DNS Suffixes

1) Open the Wi-Fi panel and click on Wi-Fi Settings…

2) Once there go to your active network tab and press the Details… button.

3) Navigate to the DNS tab and use the + button below Search Domains, to enter the following DNS suffixes as seen below: ad.fiu.edu , fiu.edu and eng.fiu. edu.

Mapping the Drives

You can access the shared folders in the following network drives by mapping them on a Mac. The paths to these drives are provided below:

H-drive: Personal Home Workspace

- Students:
  smb://eicv23.ad.fiu.edu/DATA_EICV23/HOME
- Faculty & Staff:
  smb://eicv6.ad.fiu.edu/DATA_EICV6/HOME

M-drive: Course materials
smb://eicv21.ad.fiu.edu/DATA_EICV21/READ
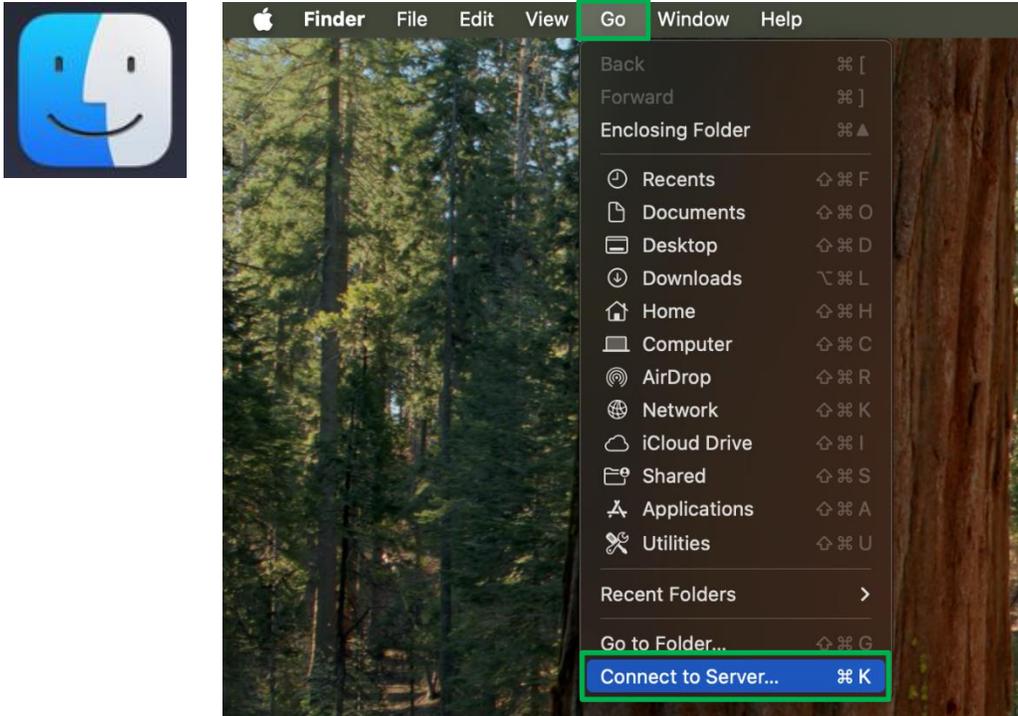

R-drive: Research data
smb://eicv22.ad.fiu.edu/DATA_EICV16/RESEARCH

S-drive: Departmental shared folders
smb://eicv21.ad.fiu.edu/DATA_EICV21/DEPARTAMENTAL-SHARES

To map any of these network drives, please follow these steps:

1) Open Finder, click Go, and then select Connect to Server…

2) In the new pop-up window, enter the network drive path you are trying to map.
   Note: In this example, we will map the home drive. To avoid typing errors, you can copy and paste the path directly into the address bar.

   - If you are a student, please enter:
   smb://eicv23.ad.fiu.edu/DATA_EICV23/HOME
- If you are faculty/staff, please enter:
 smb://eicv6.ad.fiu.edu/DATA_EICV6/HOME
3) Click on the Connect button.

4) If a pop-up window with a message similar to this: "You are attempting to connect to the server <name of server>" appears, check that it is the correct server and click on the Connect button.
- Student:

- Faculty/Staff:

5) In the Connect As section, select Registered User, and then do as follows:

- For Students: Enter your username as YourUsername@panther.ad.fiu.edu
  (Example: jdoe748@panther.ad.fiu.edu)

- For Faculty/Staff: Enter your username as YourUsername (Example: jsmith)

6) Then type in your my.fiu.edu password.
7) Click on the Connect button.
8) Access your files by clicking on the folder with your username.
